POTATOES

Indulge in a diverse range of potato varieties, from the classic and starchy russets to the creamy whites, buttery golds, bold reds, and delicate baby whites, golds, reds, and fingerlings, each offering a unique taste and texture for your culinary creations.

RUSSET

Russet potatoes are russet-skinned with white flesh. They're what we typically imagine when we think of potatoes. They have a neutral potato flavor, a fluffy, creamy and soft texture, and are best for baking, mashing and making French fries. They're also very absorbent, so are great paired with butter and cream -- think mashed potatoes.

WHITE

These round or oblong potatoes have a thin golden-colored skin, with a yellow or white flesh that is waxy in texture. These are also known as all-purpose potatoes (featured above) and come in White Rose or Finnish yellow varieties. They can be boiled, steamed, roasted or sautéed.

GOLD

Gold potatoes have finely flaked yellowish-white skin with light yellow flesh. They're bright, vegetal and slightly sweet, with a smooth, slightly waxy texture and moist flesh. They're best for boiling, baking and making French fries. They'll also stand up well to grilling, pan frying and roasting.

RED

Red potatoes have bright red skin with creamy white flesh. They're slightly bitter, and have a firm, moist and waxy texture. They're best for soups, stews, boiling, roasting, potato salad and casseroles, and worst for mashing.

BABY

Baby potatoes are small and round with thin skin, and depending on the type, they may vary in color. They're sweet, firm, creamy and very waxy. Use them for boiling, steaming, roasting or in soups, but don't use them for baking.

FINGERLING

Fingerlings are two to three inches long and thin, with buff-yellow skin and light yellow flesh. Their flavor is mild, nutty and earthy, and their texture firm and moist. They're great for boiling, baking, roasting and potato salads.

ONIONS

AND SWEET ONIONS

Elevate your dishes with the distinctive flavors of red, white, yellow, and sweet onions, each bringing its own delicious and aromatic character to your culinary masterpieces.

RED

Red onions, with their striking color and pleasantly pungent flavor, add a vibrant and flavorful touch to salads, salsas, and a variety of culinary creations.

WHITE

White onions, with their mild and crisp texture, bring a subtly sweet and aromatic essence to your dishes, making them an excellent choice for fresh salsas and salads.

YELLOW

Yellow onions, with their classic and robust flavor, are a versatile staple in the kitchen, enhancing soups, stews, and a wide range of savory dishes with their savory-sweet profile.

SWEET

Indulge in the sweet, mild flavor of our premium sweet onions, including Mayan Sweets, Vidalia Sugar Sweets, and Walla Walla River Sweet Onions, each offering a delightful touch of natural sweetness, perfect for enhancing your favorite dishes.

LIFE SHOULD BE THIS SWEET.

- Less pyruvic acid & higher levels of sugar & water
- Delicious raw; fantastic when lightly cooked, grilled or caramelized
- Best in salsa, sandwiches, burgers, kabobs, relishes & toppings
- Contain no fat or cholesterol, are low in sodium & are a great source of fiber, too!

WHAT MAKES MAYAN SWEETS SO INCREDIBLY SWEET?

A unique combination of rich soils with low sulfuric acid, a dry climate and a long growing season in the Pacific coastal deserts of Peru and Mexico. Mayan Sweets are one of the world's best known sweet onions; a respected and established brand with a long, and very tasty, history. No wonder customers ask for Mayan Sweets by name!

Life should be this sweet.

Walla Walla sweet onions are round, with an elongated neck and dry, paper-thin skin. Onions grown in the Walla Walla Valley have half the sulfur of an ordinary yellow onion, which makes them taste so sweet! Walla Walla sweet onions are a good source of Vitamin C, are sodium and cholesterol free, and are low in calories!

Did you know...

A Federal Marketing Order was established in 1995, specifying the Walla Walla Valley as the only region authorized to grow the Walla Walla Sweet Onion. Walla Walla sweet onions have been hand-harvested for many generations and are planted in carefully selected soils in the Walla Walla Valley of Southeast Washington and Northeast Oregon.

LEGAL PRODUCTION AREA
TOOMBS COUNTY, GA

Vidalia onions are only grown in Georgia. Southeast Georgia has the perfect combination of low sulfur soils, regular rain, and mild winters that produces some of the sweetest onions. There is a defined production area, and only certain counties can grow and sell Vidalia onions.

JIMMY AND ANTHONY COWART

MEET THE GROWERS: THE COWART FAMILY

The Cowart family has been growing Vidalias since 1984. But not just any Vidalias. Thanks to their father Jim, Jimmy and Anthony Cowart have the toughest standards in the country. They're tough on sweet onions. It's in their blood. Fact is, they won't leave anything to chance. As a result, when it comes to sweetness, no other Vidalia can touch their Vidalia's Sugar Sweets. Period.

APPLES

APPLES

This commodity was the original apple of our eye. Bob Evans and Marvin Carbaugh started marketing local Pennsylvania apples in 1977. From late summer to spring, Keystone has many varieties of apples from Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, New York, Michigan, and New England. Whether you are looking for tray packs, bulk, bags, or totes, we can fulfill your needs on the East Coast, saving you time, freight, and dollars!

PEACHES

PEACHES

Keystone has been providing customers with peaches since the late 70's. We represent growers from Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, providing you with the best peaches available throughout the spring and summer!

CHAMBERSBURG PEACHES®

Chambersburg Peaches are a summertime favorite in Pennsylvania and the surrounding areas. This juicy Pennsylvania peach is available from late July through August.

Keystone partners with several growers to bring you the best fruit available. Two of these growers include our friends at Bear Mountain Orchards and Bream Orchards.

BEAR MOUNTAIN ORCHARDS

Bear Mountain has over 75 years of growing experience and over 1,000 acres of tree fruit in production.

BREAM ORCHARDS

The Bream family has been growing apples and peaches for over 95 years, and they have their fourth generation in place to continue building a bright future for the business.

Both of these Adams County orchards are nestled in the Appalachian Mountain foothills. The soil, typography, and weather patterns that move around these mountain ranges make it a unique area that grows excellent flavored fruit.

WATERMELONS

WATERMELON

The Columbia River Valley, Washington’s largest growing region, is widely known for its beauty. The perfect combination of geology, soil, and climate in the Columbia Basin make it an excellent growing region for watermelon. Every summer, we bring the beauty of this area to our customers in the Pacific Northwest and Canada with our mouth-watering watermelons!
